OFFICIAL PAPER OF THE CITY.

VOLUME 8. JANESVILLE, WIS., MONDAY, MAY 16, 1864. NUMBER 66.

Janesville Weekly Gazette.

TERMS PER YEAR, ... $2,00.
IN ADVANCE.

THE WEEKLY GAZETTE is now the largest paper printed in the State, and having the matter published in the DAILY to select from, we challenge comparison with any newspaper in Wisconsin. In correct political doctrine, in reliable market reports, in giving the latest news from all quarters, in literary merit and in local information relating to this city and county, we shall spare no pains to make the WEEKLY GAZETTE worthy of public patronage and support.

NOTWITHSTADING THE repeated assertions of the telegraphs that Lee is in "full totrent," there are the very best of reasons for believing that he still confronts Grant with his demoniac rebels, and is even now gathering together the remnant of his once powerful army, for another desperate, and we hope final battle. It seems the rebels had erected, last year, between the forks of the Mattapony river, strong earthworks, and here Lee proposes to make another stand. He evidently intends to make up for his immense losses and luck of reinforcements by planting his troops in those formidable positions which have been rendered almost impregnable by nature. Lee fights with a tenacity worthy of a better cause, but he has a soldier confronting him that possesses too much bull-dog pluck and hang-on to give up the the fight as long as he has one regiment of blue coats to face the foe.

The exchange of prisoners has been resumed, and it is hoped that our poor boys that have been so long suffering the pangs of a living burial in the filthy dens of Richmond, will be sent home where fresh food, air and blessings await them.

In our dispatches will be found a detailed and lengthy account of the manner in which General Sheridan swooped down on Lee's rear, destroying an immense amount of rebel property, killing the best cavalry officer in the Confederate service, entering the enemy's works in the vicinity of Richmond, and joining Butler's forces at last with but comparatively a trifling loss. His services to General Grant in cutting Lee's communications with Richmond, must be invaluable.

One of the most cheerful features about our later dispatches, is the assurance that Grant is being heavily reinforced with fresh troops from all parts of the North. They will be most gladly welcomed by the shattered and bleeding columns that have struggled for victory with their mortal foes from the "wilderness" to the banks of the North Anna River.

Sigel is reported to be at Woodstock and has not cut the railroad at Lynchburg,

Although the intelligence from General Sherman's department is exceedingly meagre and unsatisfactory, it is still sufficient to warrant the belief that Thomas has achieved substantial success, and has obtained possession of Dalton at a trifling cost.

STATE NEWS.

The Prairie du Chien Courier says the Coroner's jury, in the case of the young man Lampson, rendered a verdict of "Suicide." But the prevailing opinion is that it was an accident. After getting into bed, it is believed, Lampson reached out to get his pistol, and was in the act of putting it under his pillow, when the lock caught in the clothing and the pistol was discharged into his body.——The Fond du Lac Reporter says A. P. Hodges, late State Prison Commissioner, has sold his fine property in that city and has removed to Detroit.—The Waupun Times says a few days ago two brothers named James and William Langdon were brought up from Polk Co., and sentenced to two years imprisonment in the State Prison for incest. It also states that wheat on the prairies is up and looking finely, and some of the farmers in that section have finished corn planting.——A company of 100 day men will be raised in Mauston. The Mauston Star says The Grand Jury was very busy, it found no less than six indictments. One against James Herold, Patrick Dore and John Costigan for murder. These parties are accused of killing John. A. Thompson, a veteran soldier, in a drunken row in a saloon in this place a few weeks since. The case was, on motion of the defendants, sent to Columbia county for trial.——J. M. Bunturd, of Plymouth,, was indicted for obtaining money from the State by false pretenses. The accused has a son in the army, and has drawn the sum of one hundred and ten dollars from the State Treasury, from the "aid to volunteer" fund, under the pretense that he was poor and depended upon his enlisted son for support; when in fact, as is charged, he was well off, had plenty of property and is not dependant upon his son or anybody else. The matter was settled and a nolle prosequi entered by the defendant repaying the money he had received. The trial of George Salter, of Clearfield, who was indicted last term for killing an Indian, was continued, the prosecution not being ready for trial on account of the absence of witnesses.

THE DARIEN Advertiser is the title of a neat sheet gotten up by the enterprising business men of Darien for the purpose of advertising the business of that genial town. When you see a town thoroughly sensible of the power that lies in a judicious application of printer's ink to increase its business, you may know such a town is bound to succeed.

We are obliged to our cotemporary of the Chicago Times for a copy of General McClellan's official report. When we get time perhaps we shall read it. At present we are too busy watching the brilliant career of the Army of the Potomac to turn aside to examine the musty records of the dead past. Let the dead bury its dead. We go for the living present.

A JUDGMENT has been rendered against Gen. Fremont, and in favor of Catherine Clark, for $10,000, on a promissory note, executed by Fremont, in consideration of certain mill property in Mariposa county, California.

LOCAL MATTERS.

TO THE FRONT.—Two companies of the 37th regiment passed through this city today, on their way to Washington.

CIRCUIT COURT.—The Circuit Court for Rock County, the Hon. Judge Noggle presiding, commenced its session in this city to-day. The calendar for the term is not large.

A CARD.—I take this means of thanking those young men from the Institution for the Blind, for their very agreeable and entertaining serenade on Saturday evening last. The piece containing the diminished chords was particularly fine.

T. MARTIN TOWNE.

THE ANNUAL MEETING of Washington Engine Co. No. 3 will be held in their Hall this evening at 8 o'clock. It is desireable that all the members be present, as officers for the ensuing year will be elected. M. H. CURTIS, Foreman.

A NICE ARRANGEMENT.—The new time table of the Milwaukee & Prairie du Chien Road is a great betterment to our citizens, so far as reaching Milwaukee is concerned. They can now leave here at 11 o'clock in the evening, and taking a sleeping car at Milton, enjoy a good night's rest, and wake up in Milwaukee in time for business, and having spent the whole day in that city, return to Janesville the same night.

THE HABIT of shooting has been carried to such an extent ground my premises that my family are afraid to go around the yard for fear of being shot.

I now give notice that unless the practice of shooting on my premises is stopped, and especially on the Sabbath, I shall put the law in force in such cases made and provided. E. P. DOTY.
May 16th 1864.

ATTENTION.—The members of Sec. 1, Battery A., W. A. M., are hereby notified to meet at the Common Council Rooms on Tuesday evening, 17th inst., at 7½ o'clock. A full attendence is required, as it will then be decided whether the organization be kept up, or the arms &c. surrendered to the State. By order,

WAR MEEEING To-NIGHT.—It is gratifying to witness the zeal with which the work of raising hundred day men is entered into here. One company is already full, and J. M. Smith is recruiting another which has got a good start. There will be a meeting at the Court Room this evening in furtherance of the object of filling this last company up. Turn out and give of your time and influence in the promotion of the work. The struggling braves in Virginia are calling to you for help. Shall it be denied.

DISGRACEFUL.—A number of young bloods, said to be from Beloit, visited our city yesterday, became intoxicated, and made fools of themselves generally. Their conduct was disgraceful, and a decided annoyance to peaceably inclined citizens. We regret that we could not ascertain their names, as we should publish them were they known to us. They drove a span of grey horses attached to a light double carriage. The team would have been vastly better off in sober hands. It is to be hoped that when another delegation from our sister city visits us on Sunday it will conduct itself in a manner more becoming the worth and intelligence of that place.

THE WAR IN VIRGINIA.

FORT MONROE, May 14th.—The exchange of prisoners has been resumed. Aiken's Landing is agreed upon by the Commissioners, Ould and Mulford, as the place of exchange.

WASHINGTON, May 14.—The number of our wounded thus far brought up to this city is 12,700. Of this number 1,400 have been placed in hospitals at Alexandria, and the remainder distributed throughout the hospitals of this city. An army surgeon who came up last night says we have about 15,000 remaining at Fredericksburg and Belle Plain. The figures include many stragglers who, when separted from the wounded will decrease the number materially.

WASHINGTON, May 14, 11:40 P. M.—To Maj. Gen. Dix:—An official dispatch from Sheridan, dated Bottom Bridge, May 13th, states that on the 9th inst. he marched around the enemy's right flank. On the evening of that day he reached the North Anna river without opposition. During that night he destroyed the enemy's depot at Beaver Dam, three trains of of 100 cars each, two fine locomotives, 200,000 pounds of bacon, and other stores, amounting in all to a million and a half of rebel rations; also the telegraph and railroad track for about 10 miles, embracing several culverts. Captured 358 of our men, including two colonels, one major and several other officers.

On the morning of the 10th he resumed, crossing the South Anna at Grand Squirrel Bridge, and went into camp about daylight.

On the 11th he captured Ashland Station, destroyed one locomotive and train of cars, an engine house and two or three government buildings containing a large amount of stores; also destroyed several miles of road, embracing six culverts, and the telegraph wire. About seven o'clock of the 11th he resumed the march on Richmond. He found the rebel General Stuart with his cavalry concentrated at Yellow Tavern. He immediately attacked them, and after an obstinate contest gained possession of the Brock Turnpike, capturing two pieces of artillery and driving his forces back towards Ashland and across the north fork of the Chickahominy. At the same time a party went down the Brock road and captured the first line of the enemies works around Richmond. During the night he marched the whole of his command between the first and second line of the enemies works on the Bluffs overlooking the line of the Virginia & Central Railroad, and the Mechanicsville turnpike. After demonstrating around the works and finding them very strong, he gave up the intention of assaulting it, and determined to recross the Chickahominy at Meadow Bridge. It had been partially destroyed by the enemy but was repaired in about 3 hours, under heavy artillery fire from a rebel battery. Gen. Morrill made the crossing, attacked the enemy, and drove him off handsomely, as far as Gaines Mill.

The enemy observing the recrossing of the Chickahominy, came out from his secret line of works. A brigade of infantry and a large number of dismounted cavalry attacked the divisions of Gens. Gregg and Wilson, but after a severe contest were repulsed and driven behind their works. Gregg's and Wilson's divisions afterwards collecting the wounded, re-crossed the Chickahominy on the P. M. of the 12th. The corps evacuated at Walnut Grove and Gaines Mills on the morning of the 13th. Yesterday the march was renewed and at eve they encamped at Bottom Bridge. The command is in fine spirits. The loss of horses will not exceed one hundred. All the wounded were brought off except about thirty cases of mortal wounds, and those were well cared for in the farm houses of the country.

The wounded will not exceed 250, and the total losses not over 350. The Virginia Central Railroad bridge over the Chickahominy, and other tressle bridges 160 feet in length, 130 feet, 120 feet, and the Railroad for a long distance south of the Chickahominy were destroyed. Great praise is given the division commanders Generals Gregg, Wilson and Merrill and Generals Custar, Davis, and Col. Gregg, Davis, Chapman, McIntosh and Gibbs' brigade, commanders, and all the officers and men behaved splendidly.

MAY 15th, 12:30 A. M.—In a dispatch this moment received from Admiral Lee, he reports to the Secretary of the Navy that the Richmond papers of yesterday mention the death of Gen. J. E. B. Stuart, shot in battle. This no doubt happened in the battle with Sheridan.

(Signed) E. M. STANTON,
Secretary of War.

NEW YORK, May 15.—To Major General Dix:—An official dispatch from the battle field at Spottsylvania yesterday morning at 6:30, states that during the preceding night, Friday, a movement was made by the 5th and 6th corps to our left, and an attack was to have been made at daylight, but no sound of battle had been heard from that quarter. This manœuvre, it is said, if successful, would place our forces in Lee's rear and compel him to retreat towards Lynchburg. No cannon or any sound of battle was heard yesterday at Belle Plain or Fredericksburg, which affords ground for inference that Lee had retreated during Friday night and before the advance of the 5th and 6th corps.

Nothing later than 6:30 a. m. yesterday has been received from the army at this Department.

All wounded that had reached Belle Plain yesterday evening have arrived here. The surgical report of the condition of the supplies is satisfactory, and the wounded are doing well. The Medical Director at Belle Plain reports that everything at that point is satisfactory.

The surgical arrangements have never been so complete as now.

Gen Sheridan's command had reached the left bank of Turkey Island at 3 o'clock p. m., yesterday, and have formed their junction with the force of Gen. Butler's command.

[Signed] E. M. STANTON,
Sec'y of War.

The Herald's correspondent from the 5th army corps dated the 13th at 6 p. m., states the battle continued during the day of the 12th and ended before night fall. The fight was more terrible than in the forenoon. We added largely to our prisoners and punished the enemy more severely than any previous day. We have over 5000 prisoners while we have not lost over one-fifth that number, and 3 spiked guns. Every battery in the corps was engaged averaging over 500 rounds each. Nearly all the batteries in the other corps were also similarly used.

Gen. Wright and two of his staff were slightly wounded by a shell, but did not leave the field. The wounded in the 5th corps sum up over 800 in to-days fight. The ninth Massachusetts which left Culpepper Court House with 600 muskets, has but 93 men left.

The second Vermont which had 530 muskets, has but 130 left. The fourth Michigan which had 277 at the first fight now numbers only 17 men. The Rebel General Johnson, of Hill's corps, was killed yesterday.

NEW YORK, May 15.—Herald's correspondence from the battle field, May 13th, at 6 P. M., says: One of our staff officers informs me that he conversed to-day with a rebel Lt., a prisoner, who gave him some interesting facts regarding the late Gen. Wadsworth. The General, he says, lived 3 days after he fell into their hands and was kindly treated. He was conscious up to the hour of his death, and his only regret was, not that he had fallen mortally wounded, but that he should die among the enemies of his country, for which he had given his life a cheerful sacrifice.

Gen. Butler has attacked Fort Darling with small loss to our side, and was very confident of its speedy reduction.

The Railroad south of Lynchburg has been destroyed to a considerable extent, thus cutting off Lee's retreat.

Reinforcements are rapidly going forward to Grant, and his losses will probably be made up by the first of this week.
M.

NEW YORK, May 16.—It was ascertained yesterday that Lee had not continued his retreat of Friday, but was apparently making a stand for another battle. Grant has fresh troops, and if he has found Lee in new entrenched lines, it is evident if he did not attack him last night, he has done so to-day.

WASHINGTON, May 15. Midnight.—The latest intelligence from the front at 10 o'clock Saturday eve. The rebels had made an attack upon the position occupied by the fifth corps. They were driven back with severe loss. Our loss amounts to 200 or 300. Lee's forces were believed to be in line of battle. Grant will have superior forces in the next attack, and fresh troops are arriving. It is conjectured that there will be more hard fighting on this side of the North Anna River. Since the desperate fight of last Thursday we have captured about six thousand more prisoners.

Later from Gen. Sherman!

News from Grant up to Saturday!

THE REBELS MAKE AN ATTACK!

We Lose a Number of Valuable Officers!

12,000 PRISONERS TAKEN

Grant has 20,000 fresh Troops

FROM SHERMAN'S DEPARTMENT.

NEW YORK, May 16.—The correspondent of the Chicago Times dated Cincinnati the 15th, says the Commercial has details of the news from Sherman's army. The enemies position held by the the corps of Howard, Schofield Palmer and Hooker. Severe skirmishing had occured for some days, resulting in the loss to us of about 800 killed wounded and missing.

A greater number were slightly wounded.

It has become fully developed that Dalton is almost, if not altogether impregnable to a front attack.

THE WAR IN VIRGINIA.

WASHINGTON, May 15.—Special to the Times. Midnight. Latest intelligence received from the front though unofficial are up to yesterday, at 1 o'clock Saturday eve. Just before dusk, the rebels made an attack on the position, occupied by the fifth corps principally, with artillery but finally were driven back with severe loss. The cannonading was furious for several hours. We lost a number of valuable officers, and from 200 to 300 men killed and wounded. After the repulse of the rebels, one division of the 5th corps made a charge upon the enemy's position, and it is reported, captured a rebel battery and a number of prisoners Saturday night

Several important changes have been made in the position of our several corps, but it would be improper to say what they are. Grant will bring to bear in the next attack, superior forces on all sides, and fresh troops are arriving A severe assault was to have been made on the enemies right wing Saturday night, but owing to the wretched condition of the roads which have been rendered almost impassable by the storm, a portion of our army waited to get into position and the attack had been abandoned in consequence.

Lee has his forces massed and will give us battle again as soon as we advance. His army, according to statement of prisoners captured yesterday, is on quarter rations and without hope of receiving any from Richmond or Lynchburg. About 12,000 prisoners have been captured in all.

FREDERICKSBURG, May 15.—Special to the World.—No battle fought on Friday, and but slight skirmishing continued during the day, and considerable firing at night. The enemy has again gradually drawn a portion of his left to a position nearer his base of supplies, but we are pressing him so closely that if he were to weaken his front materially it would be at great risk. Reconstruction of our line was determined on Friday night, and before daylight yesterday morning our troops commenced an advance. Rain fell in torrents, and the mud was literally knee deep. Notwithstanding all obstacles, and the trying work night and day, our men accomplished their advance with cheerful alacrity and resolution which entitles them to the highest praise. At the fight on Thursday we not only held the ground we had taken at the commencement, but also attacked the stronger advanced position of the enemy.

WASHINGTON, May 15.—Special to the World. Our loss in killed and wounded are almost made good by the reimbursements which have already reached the army of the Potomac. Troops have been passing through this city from the west and elsewhere, during the last few days of the past week. It is believed that the number will not amount to less than 20,000 fresh men.

INSURE WITH THE PHŒNIX INSURANCE COMPANY, HARTFORD.—Our mode of adjusting losses. Feeling it a special duty I owe to the Phœnix Insurance Company of Hartford, Conn., I take great pleasure in expressing my thankfulness for the promptness and liberality they have exhibited in honorably adjusting and paying my claim, for loss sustained by the total destruction of my brick store building and stock of merchandise contained therein in Harrodsburg Ky., a few days since, and upon which I had an insurance in the PHŒNIX.

I am to-day in receipt of the amount of my claim $9,500 sixty days before the same was due, according to the terms of the policy, which is satisfactory evidence in my mind that the PHŒNIX is the Company to do business with.

AFTERNOON DISPATCHES.

4 O'clock P. M.

BUTLER vs. BEAUREGARD

Lee admits a Loss of 30,000!

The Prdsident Calls on New Jersey!

Grant's Strategy Puzzles Lee!

FROM GENERAL BUTLER.

BERMUDA HUNDRED, May 13th—3 p. m.—At an early hour this morning, Gen. Butler moved his advance toward Fort Darling. He reached Kingsland Creek at 12 o'clock, noon, and formed two lines of battle on the southeast side of the creek, with the right on James River. The monitors and gunboats are near the mouth of the creek, and within three miles of Drury's Bluff.

3o 'CLOCK P. M.—Gen. Butler is superintending the construction of his batteries. Yesterday, four of his advance pickets captured a rebel courier with a dispatch from Beauregard to the officer in command of Drury's Bluff. The dispatch said: "Hold your position until I reinforce you."

4 o'CLOCK P. M.—In two hours the rebel reinforcements came. Gen. Butler had sent a force to the turnpike, and drove the rebels back. Our loss was slight. Gen. Ames is in position to keep Beauregard in Petersburg. The rebels at Drury's Bluff are evidently not disposed to fight without reinforcements.

MAY 12th, 8 p. m.—A rebel prisoner captured last evening says that Gen. Lee admits a loss of 30,000.

The Petersboro Register of the 12th says General Walker, of Va., was wounded at Spotsylvania. He lost a foot.

The enemy certainly are fighting with desperation. General Hays was wounded yesterday. Gen. L. A. Stafford of La., died yesterday in Richmond.

FROM GENERAL STEELE.

MEMPHIS, May 14.—Advices from Little Rock, of the 12th, report Steele is confident of maintaining the line of the Arkansas. Kirby Smith is menacing Pine Bluff in strong force, but the place is well fortified. The Arkansas River is high, and if they can cross, they may make trouble on White River, and interrupt Steele's communications up that stream.

Gen. Washburne is quite ill with chills and fever.

FROM NEW JERSEY.

TRENTON, N. J., 16th.—By request of the President, the Governor of New Jersey has issued a proclamation for all the militia force he can raise in the State within 15 days, for 100 days service.

THE WAR IN VIRGINIA.

BELL PLAIN, May 14.—Heavy skirmishing but no fighting on Friday. Fresh troops are marching to the front daily. 9,000 prisoners are now here, and more expected to-night.

BELL PLAIN, May 5th, A. M.—Yesterday our artillery opened heavily on the enemy for half an hour.

IN THE FIELD, May 14, 6 P. M.—Lee is now on the right bank of the river in front of Spottsylvania Court House, instead of its rear. The enemy made a dash on Wright's 6th corps and gained a momentarily advantage at 4 p. m., but were repulsed in a few minutes and driven out with considerable loss.

Grant's strategy has thus far bewildered Lee. He has steadily moved his entire army, by corps, by the flank from Wilderness Tavern to this point and acted offensively the whole time.

WASHINGTON, May 16, 11:35 A. M.—To Gen Dix—Latest date from Grant's headquarters are to yesterday morning, 8:30. No operations of importance had occurred: our reinforcements were a moving; nothing later from Butler since his telegram of Saturday night. We have intelligence from Resaca to last night. Our lines had advanced on the left, two lines of the enemie's earthworks having been stormed.

Sherman is reported to have captured a wagon train, 2 guns and thrashed Roddy.
E. M. STANTON.

WASHINGTON, May 15.—Herald's special. The Po and Sa, rivers form the Mattapony 6 or 10 miles southwest of this, Lee considered the intervening country susceptible of defence, and erected substantial earthworks there last year immediately fronting our present position. They are solid and seem to mount heavy guns. We are between the Ny and Po rivers, some 10 to 12 miles north of Spottsylvania. Our losses so far are estimated at about 35,000. A large proportion are slightly wounded.

FT. MONROE, 15th.—Gen. Sheridan arrived on James River yesterday afternoon. He had seven heavy fights, and was very successful. He got inside the rebel works and found that Richmond could have been taken, but was ignorant of Butler's position. We took 300 prisoners,

Sheridan reports Jeb Stuart mortally wounded. Sheridan destroyed a million rations and other stores, rolling stock &c., amounting to over $10,000,000 dollars.

IT IS at all times important to insure with Old Companies. Now it is especially so, we know not what a day may bring forth in the financial world. Keep in the old paths. E. L. DIMOCK, Agent.

Janesville Weekly Gazette.

TERMS PER YEAR, - - - $2 00
IN ADVANCE.

THE WEEKLY GAZETTE is now the largest paper printed in the State, and having the matter published in the DAILY to select from, we challenge comparison with any newspaper in Wisconsin. In correct political doctrine, in reliable market reports, in giving the latest news from all quarters, in literary merit and in local information relating to this city and county, we shall spare no pains to make the WEEKLY GAZETTE worthy of public patronage and support.

NOTWITHSTADING THE repeated assertions of the telegraphs that Lee is in "full totreat," there are the very best of reasons for believing that he still confronts Grant with his demoniac rebels, and is even now gathering together the remnant of his once powerful army, for another desperate, and we hope final battle. It seems the robels had erected, last year, between the forks of the Mattapony river, strong earthworks, and here Lee proposes to make another stand. He evidently intends to make up for his immense losses and lack of reinforcements by planting his troops in those formidable positions which have been rendered almost impregnable by nature. Lee fights with a tenacity worthy of a better cause, but he has a soldier confronting him that possesses too much bull-dog pluck and hang-on to give up the the fight as long as he has one regiment of blue coats to face the foe.

The exchange of prisoners has been resumed, and it is hoped that our poor boys that have been so long suffering the pangs of a living burial in the filthy dens of Richmond, will be sent home where fresh food, air and blessings await them.

In our dispatches will be found a detailed and lengthy account of the manner in which General Sheridan swooped down on Lee's rear, destroying an immense amount of rebel property, killing the best cavalry officer in the Confederate service, entering the enemy's works in the vicinity of Richmond, and joining Butler's forces at last with but comparatively a trifling loss. His services to General Grant in cutting Lee's communications with Richmond, must be invaluable.

One of the most cheerful features about our later dispatches, is the assurance that Grant is being heavily reinforced with fresh troops from all parts of the North. They will be most gladly welcomed by the shattered and bleeding columns that have struggled for victory with their mortal foes from the "wilderness" to the banks of the North Anna River.

Sigel is reported to be at Woodstock and has not cut the railroad at Lynchburg.

Although the intelligence from General Sherman's department is exceedingly meagre and unsatisfactory, it is still sufficient to warrant the belief that Thomas has achieved substantial success, and has obtained possession of Dalton at a trifling cost.

STATE NEWS.

The Prairie du Chien Courier says the Coroner's jury, in the case of the young man Lampson, rendered a verdict of "Suicide." But the prevailing opinion is that it was an accident. After getting into bed, it is believed, Lampson reached out to get his pistol, and was in the act of putting it under his pillow, when the lock caught in the clothing and the pistol was discharged into his body.——The Fond du Lac Reporter says A. P. Hodges, late State Prison Commissioner, has sold his fine property in that city and has removed to Detroit.—The Waupun Times says a few days ago two brothers named James and William Langdon were brought up from Polk Co., and sentenced to two years imprisonment in the State Prison for incest. It also states that wheat on the prairies is up and looking finely, and some of the farmers in that section have finished corn planting.——A company of 100 day men will be raised in Manston. The Manston Star says The Grand Jury was very busy, it found no less than six indictments. One against James Herold, Patrick Dore and John Costigan for murder. These parties are accused of killing John. A. Thompson, a veteran soldier, in a drunken row in a saloon in this place a few weeks since. The case was, on motion of the defendants, sent to Columbia county for trial.——J. M. Buintal, of Plymouth,, was indicted for obtaining money from the State by false pretenses. The accused has a son in the army, and has drawn the sum of one hundred and ten dollars from the State Treasury, from the "aid to volunteer" fund, under the pretense that he was poor and depended upon his enlisted son for support; when in fact, as is charged, he was well off, had plenty of property and is not dependant upon his son or anybody else. The matter was settled and a nolle prosequi entered by the defendant repaying the money he had received. The trial of George Salter, of Clearfield, who was indicted last term for killing an Indian, was continued, the prosecution not being ready for trial on account of the absence of witnesses.

THE DARIEN Advertiser is the title of a neat sheet gotten up by the enterprising business men of Darien for the purpose of advertising the business of that genial town. When you see a town thoroughly sensible of the power that lies in a judicious application of printer's ink to increase its business, you may know such a town is bound to succeed.

We are obliged to our cotemporary of the Chicago Times for a copy of General McClellan's official report. When we get time perhaps we shall read it. At present we are too busy watching the brilliant career of the Army of the Potomac to turn aside to examine the musty records of the dead past. Let the dead bury its dead. We go for the living present.

A JUDGMENT has been rendered against Gen. Fremont, and in favor of Catherine Clark, for $10,000, on a promissory note, executed by Fremont, in consideration of certain mill property in Mariposa county, California.

LOCAL MATTERS.

TO THE FRONT.—Two companies of the 37th regiment passed through this city today, on their way to Washington.

CIRCUIT COURT.—The Circuit Court for Rock County, the Hon. Judge Noggle presiding, commenced its session in this city to-day. The calendar for the term is not large.

A CARD.—I take this means of thanking those young men from the Institution for the Blind, for their very agreeable and entertaining serenade on Saturday evening last. The piece containing the diminished chords was particularly fine.

THE ANNUAL MEETING of Washington Engine Co. No. 3 will be held in their Hall this evening at 8 o'clock. It is desireable that all the members be present, as officers for the ensuing year will be elected. M. H. CURTIS, Foreman.

A NICE ARRANGEMENT.—The new time table of the Milwaukee & Prairie du Chien Road is a great betterment to our citizens, so far as reaching Milwaukee is concerned. They can now leave here at 11 o'clock in the evening, and taking a sleeping car at Milton, enjoy a good night's rest, and wake up in Milwaukee in time for business, and having spent the whole day in that city, return to Janesville the same night.

THE HABIT of shooting has been carried to such an extent around my premises that my family are afraid to go around the yard for fear of being shot.

I now give notice that unless the practice of shooting on my premises is stopped, and especially on the Subbath, I shall put the law in force in such cases made and provided. E. P. DOTY.

ATTENTION.—The members of Sec. 1, Battery A., W. A. M., are hereby notified to meet at the Common Council Rooms on Tuesday evening, 17th inst., at 7½ o'clock. A full attendence is required, as it will then be decided whether the organization be kept up, or the arms &c. surrendered to the State. By order,

WAR MEEEING TO-NIGHT.—It is gratifying to witness the zeal with which the work of raising hundred day men is entered into here. One company is already full, and J. M. Smith is recruting another which has got a good start. There will be a meeting at the Court Room this evening in furtherance of the object of filling this last company up. Turn out and give of your time and influence in the promotion of the work. The straggling braves in Virginia are calling to you for help. Shall it be denied.

DISGRACEFUL.—A number of young bloods, said to be from Beloit, visited our city yesterday, became intoxicated, and made fools of themselves generally. Their conduct was disgraceful, and a decided annoyance to peaceably inclined citizens. We regret that we could not ascertain their names, as we should publish them were they known to us. They drove a span of grey horses attached to a light double carriage. The team would have been vastly better off in sober hands. It is to be hoped that when another delegation from our sister city visits us on Sunday it will conduct itself in a manner more becoming the worth and intelligence of that place.

THE WAR IN VIRGINIA.

FORT MONROE, May 14th.—The exchange of prisoners has been resumed. Aiken's Landing is agreed upon by the Commissioners, Ould and Mulford, as the place of exchange.

WASHINGTON, May 14.—The number of our wounded thus far brought up to this city is 12,700. Of this number 1,400 have been placed in hospitals at Alexandria, and the remainder distributed throughout the hospitals of this city. An army surgeon who came up last night says we have about 15,000 remaining at Fredericksburg and Belle Plain. The figures include many stragglers who, when separted from the wounded will decrease the number materially.

WASHINGTON, May 14, 11:40 P. M.—To Maj. Gen. Dix:—An official dispatch from Sheridan, dated Bottom Bridge, May 13th, states that on the 9th inst. he marched around the enemy's right flank. On the evening of that day he reached the North Anna river without opposition. During that night he destroyed the enemy's depot at Beaver Dam, three trains of 100 cars each, two fine locomotives, 200,000 pounds of bacon, and other stores, amounting in all to a million and a half of rebel rations: also the telegraph and railroad track for about 10 miles, embracing several culverts. Captured 358 of our men, including two colonels, one major and several other officers.

On the morning of the 10th he resumed, crossing the South Anna at Grand Squirrel Bridge, and went into camp about daylight.

On the 11th he captured Ashland Station, destroyed one locomotive and train of cars, an engine house and two or three government buildings containing a large amount of stores; also destroyed several miles of road, embracing six culverts, and the telegraph wire. About seven o'clock of the 11th he resumed the march on Richmond. He found the rebel General Stuart with his cavalry concentrated at Yellow Tavern. He immediately attacked them, and after an obstinate contest gained possession of the Brock Turnpike, capturing two pieces of artillery and driving his forces back towards Ashland and across the north fork of the Chickahominy. At the same time a party went down the Brock road and captured the first line of the enemies works around Richmond. During the night he marched the whole of his command between the first and second line of the enemies works on the Bluffs overlooking the line of the Virginia & Central Railroad, and the Mechanicsville turnpike. After demonstrating around the works and finding them very strong, he gave up the intention of assaulting it, and determined to recross the Chickahominy at Meadow Bridge. It had been partially destroyed by the enemy but was repaired in about 3 hours, under heavy artillery fire from a rebel battery. Gen. Merrill made the crossing, attacked the enemy, and drove him off handsomely, as far as Gaines Mills.

The enemy observing the recrossing of the Chickahominy, came out from his secret line of works. A brigade of infantry and a large number of dismounted cavalry attacked the divisions of Gens. Gregg and Wilson, but after a severe contest were repulsed and driven behind their works. Gregg's and Wilson's divisions afterwards collecting the wounded, re-crossed the Chickahominy on the P. M. of the 12th. The corps evacuated at Walnut Grove and Gaines Mills on the morning of the 13th. Yesterday the march was renewed and at eve they encamped at Bottom Bridge. The command is in fine spirits. The loss of horses will not exceed one hundred. All the wounded were brought off except about thirty cases of mortal wounds, and those were well cared for in the farm houses of the country.

The wounded will not exceed 250, and the total losses not over 350. The Virginia Central Railroad bridge over the Chickahominy, and other tressle bridges 160 feet in length, 120 feet, 120 feet, and the Railroad for a long distance south of the Chickahominy were destroyed. Great praise is given the division commanders Generals Gregg, Wilson and Merrill and Generals Custar, Davis, and Col. Gregg, Davis, Chapman, McIntosh and Gibbs' brigade, commanders, and all the officers and men behaved splendidly.

MAY 15th, 12:30 A. M.—In a dispatch this moment received from Admiral Lee, he reports to the Secretary of the Navy that the Richmond papers of yesterday mention the death of Gen. J. E. B. Stuart, shot in battle. This no doubt happened in the battle with Sheridan.

(Signed) E. M. STANTON,
Secretary of War.

NEW YORK, May 15.—To Major General Dix:—An official dispatch from the battle field at Spottsylvania yesterday morning at 6:30, states that during the preceding night, Friday, a movement was made by the 5th and 6th corps to our left, and an attack was to have been made at daylight, but no sound of battle had been heard from that quarter. This maneuvre, it is said, if successful, would place our forces in Lee's rear and compel him to retreat towards Lynchburg. No cannon or any sound of battle was heard yesterday at Belle Plain or Fredericksburg, which affords ground for inference that Lee had retreated during Friday night and before the advance of the 5th and 6th corps.

Nothing later than 6:30 a. m. yesterday has been received from the army at this Department.

All wounded that had reached Belle Plain yesterday evening have arrived here. The surgical report of the condition of the supplies is satisfactory, and the wounded are doing well. The Medical Director at Belle Plain reports that everything at that point is satisfactory.

The surgical arrangements have never been so complete as now.

Gen Sheridan's command had reached the left bank of Turkey Island at 3 o'clock p. m., yesterday, and have formed their junction with the force of Gen. Butler's command.

[Signed] E. M. STANTON,
Sec'y of War.

The Herald's correspondent from the 5th army corps dated the 13th at 6 p. m., states the battle continued during the day of the 12th and ended before night fall. The fight was more terrible than in the forenoon. We added largely to our prisoners and punished the enemy more severely than any previous day. We have over 8000 prisoners while we have not lost over one-fifth that number, and 3 spiked guns. Every battery in the corps was engaged averaging over 500 rounds each. Nearly all the batteries in the other corps were also similarly used.

Gen. Wright and two of his staff were slightly wounded by a shell, but did not leave the field. The wounded in the 5th corps sum up over 800 in to-days fight. The ninth Massachusetts which left Culpepper Court House with 600 muskets, has but 93 men left.

The second Vermont which had 530 muskets, has but 130 left. The fourth Michigan which had 277 at the first fight now numbers only 17 men. The Rebel General Johnson, of Hill's corps, was killed yesterday.

NEW YORK, May 15.—Herald's correspondence from the battle field, May 13th, at 6 P. M., says: One of our staff officers informs me that he conversed to-day with a rebel Lt., a prisoner, who gave him some interesting facts regarding the late Gen. Wadsworth. The General, he says, lived 3 days after he fell into their hands and was kindly treated. He was conscious up to the hour of his death, and his only regret was, not that he had fallen mortally wounded, but that he should die among the enemies of his country, for which he had given his life a cheerful sacrifice.

Gen. Butler has attacked Fort Darling with small loss to our side, and was very confident of its speedy reduction.

The Railroad south of Lynchburg has been destroyed to a considerable extent, thus cutting off Lee's retreat.

Reinforcements are rapidly going forward to Grant, and his losses will probably be made up by the first of this week.

M.

NEW YORK, May 16.—It was ascertained yesterday that Lee had not continued his retreat of Friday, but was apparently making a stand for another battle. Grant has fresh troops, and if he has found Lee in new entrenched lines, it is evident if he did not attack him last night, he has done so to-day.

WASHINGTON, May 15. Midnight.—The latest intelligence from the front at 10 o'clock Saturday eve. The rebels had made an attack upon the position occupied by the fifth corps. They were driven back with severe loss. Our loss amounts to 200 or 300. Lee's forces were believed to be in line of battle. Grant will have superior forces in the next attack, and fresh troops are arriving. It is conjectured that there will be more hard fighting on this side of the North Anna River. Since the desperate fight of last Thursday we have captured about six thousand more prisoners.

Later from Gen. Sherman!

News from Grant up to Saturday!

THE REBELS MAKE AN ATTACK!

We Lose a Number of Valuable Officers!

12,000 PRISONERS TAKEN

Grant has 20,000 fresh Troops

FROM SHERMAN'S DEPARTMENT.

NEW YORK, May 16.—The correspondent of the Chicago Times dated Cincinnati the 15th, says the Commercial has details of the news from Sherman's army. The enemies position held by the the corps of Howard, Schofield Palmer and Hooker. Severe skirmishing had occured for some days, resulting in the loss to us of about 800 killed wounded and missing.

A greater number were slightly wounded.

It has become fully developed that Dalton is almost, if not altogether impregnable to a front attack.

THE WAR IN VIRGINIA.

WASHINGTON, May 15.—Special to the Times. Midnight. Latest intelligence received from the front though unofficial are up to yesterday, at 1 o'clock Saturday eve. Just before dusk, the rebels made an attack on the position, occupied by the fifth corps principally, with artillery but finally were driven back with severe loss. The cannonading was furious for several hours. We lost a number of valuable officers, and from 200 to 300 men killed and wounded. After the repulse of the rebels, one division of the 5th corps made a charge upon the enemy's position, and it is reported, captured a rebel battery and a number of prisoners Saturday night

Several important changes have been made in the position of our several corps, but it would be improper to say what they are. Grant will bring to bear in the next attack, superior forces on all sides, and fresh troops are arriving A severe assault was to have been made on the enemies right wing Saturday night, but owing to the wretched condition of the roads which have been rendered almost impassable by the storm, a portion of our army waited to get into position and the attack had been abandoned in consequence.

Lee has his forces massed and will give us battle again as soon as we advance. His army, according to statement of prisoners captured yesterday, is on quarter rations and without hope of receiving any from Richmond or Lynchburg. About 12,000 prisoners have been captured in all.

FREDERICKSBURG, May 15.—Special to the World.—No battle fought on Friday, and but slight skirmishing continued during the day, and considerable firing at night. The enemy has again gradually drawn a portion of his left to a position nearer his base of supplies, but we are pressing him so closely that if he were to weaken his front materially it would be at great risk. Reconstruction of our line was determined on Friday night, and before daylight yesterday morning our troops commenced an advance. Rain fell in torrents, and the mud was literally knee deep. Notwithstanding all obstacles, and the trying work night and day, our men accomplished their advance with cheerful alacrity and resolution which entitles them to the highest praise. At the fight on Thursday we not only held the ground we had taken at the commencement, but also attacked the stronger advanced position of the enemy.

WASHINGTON, May 15.—Special to the World. Our loss in killed and wounded are almost made good by the reimbursements which have already reached the army of the Potomac. Troops have been passing through this city from the west and elsewhere; during the last few days of the past week. It is believed that the number will not amount to less than 20,000 fresh men.

INSURE WITH THE PHŒNIX INSURANCE COMPANY, HARTFORD.—Our mode of adjusting losses. Feeling it a special duty I owe to the Phœnix Insurance Company of Hartford, Conn., I take great pleasure in expressing my thankfulness for the promptness and liberality they have exhibited in honorably adjusting and paying my claim, for loss sustained by the total destruction of my brick store building and stock of merchandise contained therein in Harrodsburg Ky., a few days since, and upon which I had an insurance in the PHŒNIX.

I am to-day in receipt of the amount of my claim $2,500 sixty days before the same was due, according to the terms of the policy, which is satisfactory evidence in my mind that the PHŒNIX is the Company to do business with.

AFTERNOON DISPATCHES.

BUTLER vs. BEAUREGARD

Lee admits a Loss of 30,000!

The Prdsident Calls on New Jersey!

Grant's Strategy Puzzles Lee!

FROM GENERAL BUTLER.

BERMUDA HUNDRED, May 13th—3 p. m.—At an early hour this morning, Gen. Butler moved his advance toward Fort Darling. He reached Kingsland Creek at 12 o'clock, noon, and formed two lines of battle on the southeast side of the creek, with the right on James River. The monitors and gunboats are near the mouth of the creek, and within three miles of Drury's Bluff.

3o 'CLOCK P. M.—Gen. Butler is superintending the construction of his batteries. Yesterday, four of his advance pickets captured a rebel courier with a dispatch from Beauregard to the officer in command of Drury's Bluff. The dispatch said: "Hold your position until I reinforce you."

4 o'CLOCK P. M.—In two hours the rebel reinforcements came. Gen. Butler had sent a force to the turnpike, and drove the rebels back. Our loss was slight. Gen. Ames is in position to keep Beauregard in Petersburg. The rebels at Drury's Bluff are evidently not disposed to fight without reinforcements.

MAY 12th, 8 p. m.—A rebel prisoner captured last evening says that Gen. Lee admits a loss of 30,000.

The Petersboro Register of the 12th says General Walker, of Va., was wounded at Spotsylvania. He lost a foot.

The enemy certainly are fighting with desperation. General Hays was wounded yesterday. Gen. L. A. Stafford of La., died yesterday in Richmond.

FROM GENERAL STEELE.

MEMPHIS, May 14.—Advices from Little Rock, of the 12th, report Steele is confident of maintaining the line of the Arkansas. Kirby Smith is menacing Pine Bluff in strong force, but the place is well fortified. The Arkansas River is high, and if they can cross, they may make trouble on White River, and interrupt Steele's communications up that stream.

Gen. Washburne is quite ill with chills and fever.

FROM NEW JERSEY.

TRENTON, N. J., 16th.—By request of the President, the Governor of New Jersey has issued a proclamation for all the militia force he can raise in the State within 15 days, for 100 days service.

THE WAR IN VIRGINIA.

BELL PLAIN, May 14.—Heavy skirmishing but no fighting on Friday. Fresh troops are marching to the front daily. 9,000 prisoners are now here, and more expected to-night.

BELL PLAIN, May 5th, A. M.—Yesterday our artillery opened heavily on the enemy for half an hour.

IN THE FIELD, May 14, 6 P. M.—Lee is now on the right bank of the river in front of Spottsylvania Court House, instead of its rear. The enemy made a dash on Wright's 6th corps and gained a momentarily advantage at 4 p. m., but were repulsed in a few minutes and driven out with considerable loss.

Grant's strategy has thus far bewildered Lee. He has steadily moved his entire army, by corps, by the flank from Wilderness Tavern to this point and acted offensively the whole time.

WASHINGTON, May 16, 11:35 A. M.—To Gen Dix—Latest date from Grant's headquarters are to yesterday morning, 8:30. No operations of importance had occurred; our reinforcements were a moving; nothing later from Butler since his telegram of Saturday night. We have intelligence from Resaca to last night. Our lines had advanced on the left, two lines of the enemie's earthworks having been stormed.

Sherman is reported to have captured a wagon train, 2 guns and thrashed Roddy.

E. M. STANTON.

WASHINGTON, May 15.—Herald's special. The Po and Sa, rivers form the Mattapony 6 or 10 miles southwest of this, Lee considered the intervening country susceptible of defence, and erected substantial earthworks there last year immediately fronting our present position. They are solid and seem to mount heavy guns. We are between the Ny and Po rivers, some 10 to 12 miles north of Spottsylvania. Our losses so far are estimated at about 35,000. A large proportion are slightly wounded.

FT. MONROE, 15th.—Gen. Sheridan arrived on James River yesterday afternoon. He had seven heavy fights, and was very successful. He got inside the rebel works and found that Richmond could have been taken, but was ignorant of Butler's position. We took 300 prisoners.

Sheridan reports Jeb Stuart mortally wounded. Sheridan destroyed a million rations and other stores, rolling stock &c., amounting to over $10,000,000 dollars.

IT IS at all times important to insure with Old Companies. Now it is especially so, we know not what a day may bring forth in the financial world. Keep in the old paths. E. L. DIMOCK, Agent.

Friday's Battle--Fourteen Hours of Fighting--Desperate Attempt by Lee to Break up Sedgwick's Division--Heroic Resistance of Our Men--Death of Gen. Wadsworth--Varying Successes, but Final Repulse of the Rebels.

FIELD OF THE BATTLE OF THE WILDERNESS, Friday, May 6—11 P. M.

[From the New York Tribune.]

Fourteen hours of severe fighting to-day, and still nothing decisive. The position this morning was that of last night, substantially. Gen Sedgwick, with two of his divisions, Ricket's and Wright's has fought upon the right; Gen. Hancock, with four divisions of his corps, viz., Birney's Carr's, Barlow's and Gibson's with Getty's Division of the 6th corps, has fought upon the left; and Gen. Warren, with his full corps and Stevenson's division of the 9th Corps (Burnside's), has fought in the centre. Burnside's corps has constituted the reserve, and has marched and countermarched incessantly, and gone in by brigades at the centre and on the left.

Sedgwick was to advance at 5 P. M., but Ewell, who commands opposite him, attacked at 4:45. Sedgwick says Ewell's watch must be 15 minutes ahead of his. This action on our right was spirited and well fought. At the expiration of an hour the rebels were handsomely borne back, the firing ceased, and each side held the ground they had bivouacked upon. Our loss was severe and the enemy's could not have been less.

Gen. Sedgwick's staff were brilliant and ubiquitous throughout, while the old General was the man of Antietam and Fredericksburg repeating himself. This action barely over, and suddenly we heard from the extreme left that peculiar monotonous swell and volume of sound which tells of large numbers engaged—so many that single shots and even volleys of long lines are not distinct, but are merged in in the mighty noise of a great battle. Hancock was engaged.

The details of his two hours' steady struggle I do not know, but I know that he did his work cleanly and completely. Longstreet had joined the rebel right, and this was a second determined attempt to turn our left, and a second utter discomfiture.

Gray, who was on the ground, will undoubtedly embody in his letter to the Tribune full and accurate particulars.

Only ten o'clock, and Lee had tried each wing, and had met in each case more than he could overcome, and we asked ourselves what next. All his movements were silent and invisible, and unknown until he developed them in the event. We can deliver blows over in the direction whence blows are dealt us—not against an enemy advancing in bold sight, but against one who has mysteriously gathered and poised himself for a deadly spring.

But the suspense is not long. Both combatants are too eager to compel the issue for either to delay another and still another encounter. Shots begin to ring all along the six miles of front.

At eleven o'clock the enemy pressed close upon Warren and Sedgwick, and trained a number of guns exactly upon the latter's headquarters. A man and three horses are killed within twenty feet of the General, and in the very center of his grouped staff. Finding the enemy disposed to renew the engagement of the early morning, Sedgwick accepts the challenge, and advances his whole line. The men go in with more dash and hold on more sturdily than in the morning. Ewell is driven back to his second line, where his guns are in position, and there makes a stand.

At this juncture, Warren, who connects with Sedgwick's left, is extremely anxious to go in with all his might, but the enemy's position to his front seems too formidable.

I see a troop of horsemen riding rapidly up to the perilous edge of battle and recognize Warren and his white horse, as Jehu was recognized by the Prophet of old, for they came furiously. With him are Generals Griffin and Hunt, and officers of Generals. Grant's and Meade's staffs.

Halting at the first line, they dismount and walk more than half a mile in front of the men, who are flat upon their breasts and firing rapidly. We hold the woods on one side of an open space, perhaps one-fourth of a mile across, and the rebels lay along the trend of the woods upon the other side. Their entrenchments are plainly visible, and the open mouths of their artillery peer over.

No; it will not do to charge across. It were stark madness. The sharpshooters may continue to reply to this, but no man shall start across the plain and live. Warren had perhaps hoped that his own judgement would be overruled by the officers with him, but all declare that no advance can be made here. But more to the left, where Wadsworth's and Robinson's divisions of Warren's corps lay up to Hancock, the prospect is better, and there an assault is ordered.

It is noon and Sedgwick's second fight is over, and he again rests on the line of his last night's bivouac. Wadsworth advances and finds the enemy—A. P. Hill's corps—strong and prepared. The divisions on his right and left become engaged with him, and the work is warm. Here, as elsewhere, the contest is in a tangled jungle, and the soldiers push aside the bushes and find mortal enemies bursting through the adjoining growth of bushes, and face to face with them.

Half or three-fourths of an hour of alternating success and repulse, and Gen. Wadsworth orders a charge to recover his command from a slight wavering. He is cheered loudly by his men, who loved the gray-haired chieftain. One horse is shot under him. He mounts a second and spurs to the front, hat in hand, and we should have won then, but his men saw him fall. He was shot through the head, killed instantly, and his body fell into the hands of the enemy.

His command fell back to their original position with comparative order. Wadsworth's death is a heavy loss—scarcely an officer in the army but could have been better spared, and none would have been more deeply regretted. Yesterday and to-day he had displayed such marked ability and gallantry as to compel his recognition on all hands as an able soldier, who, now that he is gone, can hardly be replaced. He was a true man, a beloved, a high-toned gentleman, to be respected, an unshrinking patriot to be emulated, an accomplished soldier, dead on the field of honor, to be mourned.

But this battle does not pause for a hero slain. From noon until 5 o'clock, a number of sharp assaults at various points were made and invariably repulsed, whether made by us or by the enemy. Each one of these affairs were material for a long letter, but I find it simply impossible at this time to ascertain and write out correctly the facts in detail.

Prisoners came in at the rate of 100 an hour. The day was excessively hot, and the men were much exhausted. We had neither gained nor lost ground, but continued this thing long enough, and we hoped to finally wear them out. At half past 5 o'clock, Hancock was preparing for a grand movement of our entire left. He did not make it, for the enemy anticipated him, and he had to repel perhaps the most wicked assault thus far encountered—brief in duration, but terrific in power and superhuman momentum.

The first few minutes we were staggered. Stragglers for the first time in all this fighting streamed to the rear in large numbers, choking the roads and causing a panic by their stampede and incoherent tales of frightful disaster. It was even reported at general headquarters that the enemy had burst entirely through, and supports were hurried up. Grant and Meade, seated, their backs against the same tree, quietly listened to the officer who brought the report, and consulted a moment in low tones. The orders for sending reinforcements were given, and for a little time not a word was spoken in the group of more than twenty officers. They but looked into each other's faces.

At length Grant says, with laconic emphasis, "I don't believe it." He was right. Long before that, Hancock had recovered from the first shock, held his own awhile, and now was gaining ground. In forty minutes from this attack, the enemy was completely beaten back, with tremendous slaughter, and the loss of some hundreds of prisoners.

It was now nearly sunset. From one end of the line to the other not a shot could be heard. The day's work seemed over. Our line of to-night would be that of last night. The auguries were good. In two days' fighting we had lost heavily, but not more than the enemy. Our assaults had been futile, but the enemy's had been equally so; and it is by these masked assaults that he had ever achieved his victories.

The inference was clear that we had overmatched him fighting at his best and strongest.

Men separated in the heat of the day, now chancing to meet, congratulated each other. The rebels can't endure another such day, and we can, was the expressed conviction on all hands, and this statement epitomizes the situation at sunset.

The sun went down red. The smoke of the battle of more than two hundred thousand men desroying each other with a villainous salpetre through all the long hours of a long day, filled the vallies, and rested upon the hills of all this wilderness, hung in lurid haze all around the horizon, and built a dense canopy overhead, beneath which this grand army of Freedom was preparing to rest against the morrow. Gens. Grant and Meade had retired to their tents. Quiet reigned, but during the reign of quiet the enemy was forging a thunderbolt.

Darkness and smoke were migling in grim twilight, and fast deepning into thick gloom, when we were startled out of repose back into fierce excitement. The forged thunderbolt was sped and by a master. A wild rebel yell away to the right. We knew they were massed and were charging. We were waiting for the volely with which we knew Sedgwick would meet the onset. We thought it but a night attack to ascertain if we had changed our position. We were mistaken—it was more. They meant to break through, and they did. On Sedgwick's extreme right lay the 2nd Brigade, 3d division of his corps under Gen. Seymour, who had been assigned to it but two days before.

The brigade is new to the 6th Corps, and is known as the Milroy brigade; connecting on the left of Seymour by Shaler's and Mc Neill's brigade, the latter being a brigade of Getty's division that had not been sent to Hancock. These troops were at work entrenching when fallen upon. The enemy came down like a torrent, rolling and dashing in living waves, and flooding up against the whole 6th corps. The main line stood like a rock, but not so the extreme right. That flank was instantly and utterly turned. The rebel line was the longer, and surged around Seymour's brigade, tided over it and through it, beat against Shaler, and bore away his right regiments. All this done in less than ten minutes, perhaps not five. Seymour's men, seeing their pickets running back, and hearing the shouts of the rebels, who charged with all their chivalry, were smitten with panic, and, standing on no order of going, went at once, and in an incredibly short time made their way through a mile and a half of woods to the plank-road in the rear. They reported, in a frantic manner usual with stampeded men, the entire corps broken. Grant as in Hancock's case, did'nt believe it. But when three of Sedgwick's staff rode in to army headquarters separately and stated how they had ridden from Sedgwick's to keep Seymour's men to their work, had been borne back by the panic, and had last seen Sedgwick and Wright hard to the front working like Trojan's to hold the wavering line, the situation appeared more critical. No word came in from Sedgwick. It began to be feared that he and Wright, disdaining to fly, were prisoners.

Artillery moved quietly to commanding positions, to be prepared for the worst, and cool heads felt that were the whole 6th corps broken, the army, as an army, would still be invincible. Warren's corps is instantly put in perfect composure, disposed to meet the situation. Grant and Meade and Warren are in Grant's tent, to and from which officers come and go with a certain earnest air that bespeaks urgent and important cares. So during an hour. No firing has been heard the last three quarters of an hour. The rebels must have ceased to advance; but how far have they penetrated, and what is the present situation?

The 6th corps' flag comes in. Where is the 6th corps' chieftain? My watch says 10 o'clock at night. A dispatch received. John Sedgwick safe. Wright safe. The 6th corps holds a strong line; only Seymour's and a part of Shaler's brigade have been broken. The enemy can do nothing more. The 6th corps proper has not lost its pristine glory. Compelled to withdraw, under orders after the defection of its right, it is still invincible—is now, and and ever shall be, I may not refrain from mentioning for gallantry, Sedgwick's staff and Wright's.

Riding in the thickest with rare presence of mind and rare judgment, they won and deserved John Sedgwick's emphatic commendation. Gens. Seymour and Shaler were captured.

[Special Dispatch to the Gazette.]

WASHINGTON, May 14.—Late rebel papers state Lee is wounded and is now in Richmond, and his army is out of gear, and in full retreat. Beauregard has been reinforced by Lee.

The telegraph wire between Petersburg and Richmond has been cut.

Careful investigation fixes the total losses of the Army of the Potomac, in killed, wounded and missing, including prisoners captured by the rebels and stragglers, up to the commencement of the battle of Thursday, at about 20,000.

The Star says, from the fact that no cannonading was heard yesterday from the front, it is believed Lee, in shifting his position, has taken care to put himself out of immediate fighting range if he has not actually moved off rapidly toward Richmond.

The public may expect to hear soon of the occurrence of the next fight, if Lee has not been so weakened as to compel him to seek the cover of the Richmond fortifications or to retreat rapidly in the direction of Lynchburg and Stanton from which point his army has received its supplies ever since Grant crossed the Rapidan.

We may add that we do not share the apprehensions of many that Lee can make a more obstinate defense on the North or South Anna Rivers than he has made on the Po, as the lines to be held south of those rivers are much longer than that on the Po, and therefore much weaker.

WASHINGTON, May 14.—A messenger to the associated press, has arrived with the following:

HEADQUARTERS ARMY POTOMAC., May 14.

SOLDIERS: The moment has arrived when your commanding General feels authorized to address you in terms of congratulation. For eight days and nights almost without intermission, in rain and sunshine, you have been gallantly fighting a desperate foe in positions naturally strong, and rendered doubly so by entrenchments. You have compelled him to abandon his fortifications on the Rapidan, to retire and attempt to stop your onward progress, and now he has abandoned his last entrenched position so tenaciously held, suffering in all a loss of 33 guns, 22 colors and 8,000 prisoners, including two General officers. Your heroic deeds and noble endurance of fatigue and privation will ever be remembered. Let us return thanks to God for the mercy thus shown us and ask earnestly for its continuance. Soldiers, your work is not over. The enemy must be pursued and if possible overcome, and the courage and fortitude you have displayed, renders your commanding General confident that your future efforts will result in success. While we mourn the loss of many gallant comrades, let us remember that the enemy must have suffered equally if not greater losses. We shall soon receive reinforcements which he cannot expect. Let us determine then, to continue vigorously the work so well began, and under God's blessing, in a short time the object of our labors will be accomplished.

[Signed] GEO. B. MEADE,
Maj. Gen. Commanding.

HEADQUARTERS ARMY OF THE POTOMAC, May 13th.—The Army of the Potomac has achieved the greatest victory of the war, after some of the severest fighting ever recorded in history. The battle of yesterday is acknowledged to be the heaviest of all, lasting from daylight till after dark, renewed about 9 p. m., and continuing till nearly 3 a. m. Both parties contending during the night for the possession of a line of rifle pits from which our men had driven the enemy in the morning.

The rebels fell back early this morning, and skirmishing is now going on, our troops following them up through the woods. The scene presented to-day is entirely beyond description. The dead and dying behind and in front of the breastworks are lying in some places in piles three and four deep, many of them wounded in several parts of the body. The enemy had removed a large number of their dead and wounded during the night from portions of the line, but there were places where they could not reach, and there they lay as thick as our own.

Some of the caissons are now being brought in which could not be done before. The number of guns captured is 30. Many colors have been taken, but the captors still retain them as trophies.

Col. Carrol's brigade took a number of prisoners and a stand of colors this morning from a rebel regiment which they surprised in a piece of woods.

LATER, HEADQUARTERS, ARMY OF THE POTOMAC, 2 P. M.—The enemy are found to have fallen back to a new line, abandoning their works on their right and apparently getting into position for another contest.

BALTIMORE, May 14.—The Gov. of Maryland has called two or three regiments of one hundred day men to relieve all the regular troops now on duty in this State.

FROM GENERAL BUTLER.

NEW YORK, May 14.—The N. Y. Tribune's special says, under date of Washington, that Gen. Butler has removed the rebel obstructions from the James River, and our gunboats are going toward Richmond. A chart, showing the location of the torpedoes, was found on the man shot while attempting to explode a torpedo a few nights ago.

The Herald's special announces the destruction, on the morning of the 9th, of five miles of the Richmond and Petersburg railroad. Five divisions moved out to different points on the road, completed the destruction, massed and moved on to Petersburg, General Weitzel leading. The enemy were found in force about five miles out of Petersburg. Our forces advanced steadily, driving the enemy before them.

At midnight a fierce attack was made on our front, but after a short and bloody engagement the enemy were repulsed. At daybreak of the 10th an attempt to turn our right was thwarted, and the rebels thoroughly whipped, with a heavy less in killed and wounded.

FROM GEN. SHERIDAN.

Special Despatch to the Gazette.

The following from E. S. Sanford Esq., has just been received:

NEW YORK, May 15, A. M.—The official news is glorious. Sheridan has taken Ashland, torn up 6 miles more of Railroad, destroyed locomotives, and a train of cars, rebel government storehouse, a large amount of supplies, fought and whipped Stuart's cavalry, killed Jeb. Stuart, taken two guns and recaptured nearly 400 more of our men, including two colonels, driven the enemy within their entrenchments at Richmond and joined Butler.

Friday night the 5th and 6th corps of Grant's army were to make a movement on our left to get in the rear of Lee and drive him towards Lynchburg. The assault was to be made at daybreak, but as no firing has been heard it is inferred that Lee continued his retreat during the same night.

General Grant's army is well supplied and heavily reinforced. Good-bye, Southern Confederacy. E. S. SANFORD.

Friday's Battle--Fourteen Hours of Fighting--Desperate Attempt by Lee to Break up Sedgwick's Division--Heroic Resistance of Our Men--Death of Gen. Wadsworth--Varying Successes, but Final Repulse of the Rebels.

FIELD OF THE BATTLE OF THE WILDERNESS, Friday, May 6—11 P. M.

[From the New-York Tribune.]

Fourteen hours of severe fighting to-day, and still nothing decisive. The position this morning was that of last night, substantially. Gen Sedgwick, with two of his divisions, Ricket's and Wright's has fought upon the right; Gen. Hancock, with four divisions of his corps, viz., Birney's Carr's, Barlow's and Gibson's with Getty's Division of the 6th corps, has fought upon the left; and Gen. Warren, with his full corps and Stevenson's division of the 9th Corps (Burnside's), has fought in the centre. Burnside's corps has constituted the reserve, and has marched and countermarched incessantly, and gone in by brigades at the centre and on the left.

Sedgwick was to advance at 5 P. M., but Ewell, who commands opposite him, attacked at 4:45. Sedgwick says Ewell's watch must be 15 minutes ahead of his. This action on our right was spirited and well fought. At the expiration of an hour the rebels were handsomely borne back; the firing ceased, and each side held the ground they had bivouaced upon. Our loss was severe and the enemy's could not have been less.

Gen. Sedgwick's staff were brilliant and ubiquitous throughout, while the old General was the man of Antietam and Fredericksburg repeating himself. This action barely over, and suddenly we heard from the extreme left that peculiar monotonous swell and volume of sound which tells of large numbers engaged—so many that single shots and even volleys of long lines are not distinct, but are merged in in the mighty noise of a great battle. Hancock was engaged.

The details of his two hours' steady struggle I do not know, but I know that he did his work cleanly and completely. Longstreet had joined the rebel right, and this was a second determined attempt to turn our left, and a second utter discomfiture.

Gray, who was on the ground, will undoubtedly embody in his letter to the Tribune full and accurate particulars.

Only ten o'clock, and Lee had tried each wing, and had met in each case more than he could overcome, and we asked ourselves what next. All his movements were silent and invisible, and unknown until he developed them in the event. We can deliver blows over in the direction whence blows are dealt us—not against an enemy advancing in bold sight, but against one who has mysteriously gathered and poised himself for a deadly spring.

But the suspense is not long. Both combatants are too eager to compel the issue for either to delay another and still another encounter. Shots begin to ring all along the six miles of front.

At eleven o'clock the enemy pressed close upon Warren and Sedgwick, and trained a number of guns exactly upon the latter's headquarters. A man and three horses are killed within twenty feet of the General, and in the very center of his grouped staff. Finding the enemy disposed to renew the engagement of the early morning, Sedgwick accepts the challenge, and advances his whole line. The men go in with more dash and hold on more sturdily than in the morning. Ewell is driven back to his second line, where his guns are in position, and there makes a stand.

At this juncture, Warren, who connects with Sedgwick's left, is extremely anxious to go in with all his might, but the enemy's position to his front seems too formidable.

I see a troop of horsemen riding rapidly up to the perilous edge of battle and recognize Warren and his white horse, as Jehu was recognized by the Prophet of old, for they came furiously. With him are Generals Griffin and Hunt, and officers of Generals. Grant's and Meade's staffs.

Halting at the first line, they dismount and walk more than half a mile in front of the men, who are flat upon their breasts and firing rapidly. We hold the woods on one side of an open space, perhaps one-fourth of a mile across, and the rebels lay along the trend of the woods upon the other side. Their entrenchments are plainly visible, and the open mouths of their artillery peer over.

No; it will not do to charge across. It were stark madness. The sharpshooters may continue to reply to this, but no man shall start across the plain and live. Warren had perhaps hoped that his own judgement would be overruled by the officers with him, but all declare that no advance can be made here. But more to the left, where Wadsworth's and Robinson's divisions of Warren's corps lay up to Hancock, the prospect is better, and there an assault is ordered.

It is noon and Sedgwick's second fight is over, and he again rests on the line of his last night's bivouac. Wadsworth advances and finds the enemy—A. P. Hill's corps—strong and prepared. The divisions on his right and left become engaged with him, and the work is warm. Here, as elsewhere, the contest is in a tangled jungle, and the soldiers push aside the bushes and find mortal enemies bursting through the adjoining growth of bushes, and face to face with them.

Half or three-fourths of an hour of alternating success and repulse, and Gen. Wadsworth orders a charge to recover his command from a slight wavering. He is cheered loudly by his men, who loved the gray-haired chieftain. One horse is shot under him. He mounts a second and spurs to the front, hat in hand, and we should have won then, but his men saw him fall. He was shot through the head, killed instantly, and his body fell into the hands of the enemy.

His command fell back to their original position with comparative order. Wadsworth's death is a heavy loss—scarcely an officer in the army but could have been better spared, and none would have been more deeply regretted. Yesterday and to-day he had displayed such marked ability and gallantry as to compel his recognition on all hands as an able soldier, who, now that he is gone, can hardly be replaced. He was a true man, a beloved, a high-toned gentleman, to be respected, an unshrinking patriot to be emulated, an accomplished soldier, dead on the field of honor, to be mourned.

But this battle does not pause for a hero slain. From noon until 5 o'clock, a number of sharp assaults at various points were made and invariably repulsed, whether made by us or by the enemy. Each one of these affairs were material for a long letter, but I find it simply impossible at this time to ascertain and write out correctly the facts in detail.

Prisoners came in at the rate of 100 an hour. The day was excessively hot, and the men were much exhausted. We had neither gained nor lost ground, but continued this thing long enough, and we hoped to finally wear them out. At half past 5 o'clock, Hancock was preparing for a grand movement of our entire left. He did not make it, for the enemy anticipated him, and he had to repel perhaps the most wicked assault thus far encountered—brief in duration, but terrific in power and superhuman momentum.

The first few minutes we were staggered. Stragglers for the first time in all this fighting streamed to the rear in large numbers, choking the roads and causing a panic by their stampede and incoherent tales of frightful disaster. It was even reported at general headquarters that the enemy had burst entirely through, and supports were hurried up. Grant and Meade, seated, their backs against the same tree, quietly listened to the officer who brought the report, and consulted a moment in low tones. The orders for sending reinforcements were given, and for a little time not a word was spoken in the group of more than twenty officers. They but looked into each other's faces.

At length Grant says, with laconic emphasis, "I don't believe it." He was right. Long before that, Hancock had recovered from the first shock, held his own awhile, and now was gaining ground. In forty minutes from this attack, the enemy was completely beaten back, with tremendous slaughter, and the loss of some hundreds of prisoners.

It was now nearly sunset. From one end of the line to the other not a shot could be heard. The day's work seemed over. Our line of to-night would be that of last night. The auguries were good. In two days' fighting we had lost heavily, but not more than the enemy. Our assaults had been futile, but the enemy's had been equally so; and it is by these masked assaults that he had ever achieved his victories.

The inference was clear that we had overmatched him fighting at his best and strongest.

Men separated in the heat of the day, now chancing to meet, congratulated each other. The rebels can't endure another such day, and we can, was the expressed conviction on all hands, and this statement epitomizes the situation at sunset.

The sun went down red. The smoke of the battle of more than two hundred thousand men desroying each other with a villainous salpetre through all the long hours of a long day, filled the vallies, and rested upon the hills of all this wilderness, hung in lurid haze all around the horizon, and built a dense canopy overhead, beneath which this grand army of Freedom was preparing to rest against the morrow. Gens. Grant and Meade had retired to their tents. Quiet reigned, but during the reign of quiet the enemy was forging a thunderbolt.

Darkness and smoke were mingling in grim twilight, and fast deepning into thick gloom, when we were startled out of repose back into fierce excitement. The forged thunderbolt was sped and by a master. A wild rebel yell away to the right. We knew they were massed and were charging. We were waiting for the volely with which we knew Sedgwick would meet the onset. We thought it but a night attack to ascertain if we had changed our position. We were mistaken—it was more. They meant to break through, and they did. On Sedgwick's extreme right lay the 2nd Brigade, 3d division of his corps under Gen. Seymour, who had been assigned to it but two days before.

The brigade is new to the 6th Corps, and is known as the Milroy brigade; connecting on the left of Seymour by Shaler's and Mc Neill's brigade, the latter being a brigade of Getty's division that had not been sent to Hancock. These troops were at work entrenching when fallen upon. The enemy came down like a torrent, rolling and dashing in living waves, and flooding up against the whole 6th corps. The main line stood like a rock, but not so the extreme right. That flank was instantly and utterly turned. The rebel line was the longer, and surged around Seymour's brigade, tided over it and through it, beat against Shaler, and bore away his right regiments. All this done in less than ten minutes, perhaps not five. Seymour's men, seeing their pickets running back, and hearing the shouts of the rebels, who charged with all their chivalry, were smitten with panic, and, standing on no order of going, went at once, and in an incredibly short time made their way through a mile and a half of woods to the plank-road in the rear. They reported, in a frantic manner usual with stampeded men, the entire corps broken. Grant as in Hancock's case, did'nt believe it. But when three of Sedgwick's staff rode in to army headquarters separately and stated how they had ridden from Sedgwick's to keep Seymour's men to their work, had been borne back by the panic, and had last seen Sedgwick and Wright hard to the front working like Trojan's to hold the wavering line, the situation appeared more critical. No word came in from Sedgwick. It began to be feared that he and Wright, disdaining to fly, were prisoners.

Artillery moved quietly to commanding positions, to be prepared for the worst, and cool heads felt that were the whole 6th corps broken, the army, as an army, would still be invincible. Warren's corps is instantly put in perfect composure, disposed to meet the situation. Grant and Meade and Warren are in Grant's tent, to and from which officers come and go with a certain earnest air that bespeaks urgent and important cares. So during an hour. No firing has been heard the last three quarters of an hour. The rebels must have ceased to advance; but how far have they penetrated, and what is the present situation?

The 6th corps' flag comes in. Where is the 6th corps' chieftain? My watch says 10 o'clock at night. A dispatch received. John Sedgwick safe. Wright safe. The 6th corps holds a strong line; only Seymour's and a part of Shaler's brigade have been broken. The enemy can do nothing more. The 6th corps proper has not lost its pristine glory. Compelled to withdraw, under orders after the defection of its right, it is still invincible—is now, and and ever shall be, I may not refrain from mentioning for gallantry, Sedgwick's staff and Wright's.

Riding in the thickest with rare presence of mind and rare judgment, they won and deserved John Sedgwick's emphatic commendation. Gens. Seymour and Shaler were captured.

[Special Dispatch to the Gazette.]

WASHINGTON, May 14.—Late rebel papers state Lee is wounded and is now in Richmond, and his army is out of gear, and in full retreat. Beauregard has been reinforced by Lee.

The telegraph wire between Petersburg and Richmond has been cut.

Careful investigation fixes the total losses of the Army of the Potomac, in killed, wounded and missing, including prisoners captured by the rebels and stragglers, up to the commencement of the battle of Thursday, at about 20,000.

The Star says, from the fact that no cannonading was heard yesterday from the front, it is believed Lee, in shifting his position, has taken care to put himself out of immediate fighting range if he has not actually moved off rapidly toward Richmond.

The public may expect to hear soon of the occurrence of the next fight, if Lee has not been so weakened as to compel him to seek the cover of the Richmond fortifications or to retreat rapidly in the direction of Lynchburg and Stanton from which point his army has received its supplies ever since Grant crossed the Rapidan.

We may add that we do not share the apprehensions of many that Lee can make a more obstinate defense on the North or South Anna Rivers than he has made on the Po, as the lines to be held south of those rivers are much longer than that on the Po, and therefore much weaker.

WASHINGTON, May 14.—A messenger to the associated press, has arrived with the following:

HEADQUARTERS ARMY POTOMAC, May 14.

SOLDIERS: The moment has arrived when your commanding General feels authorized to address you in terms of congratulation. For eight days and nights almost without intermission, in rain and sunshine, you have been gallantly fighting a desperate foe in positions naturally strong, and rendered doubly so by entrenchments. You have compelled him to abandon his fortifications on the Rapidan, to retire and attempt to stop your onward progress, and now he has abandoned his last entrenched position so tenaciously held, suffering in all a loss of 33 guns, 22 colors and 8,000 prisoners, including two General officers. Your heroic deeds and noble endurance of fatigue and privation will ever be remembered. Let us return thanks to God for the mercy thus shown us and ask earnestly for its continuance. Soldiers, your work is not over. The enemy must be pursued and if possible overcome, and the courage and fortitude you have displayed, renders your commanding General confident that your future efforts will result in success. While we mourn the loss of many gallant comrades, let us remember that the enemy must have suffered equally if not greater losses. We shall soon receive reinforcements which he cannot expect. Let us determine then, to continue vigorously the work so well began, and under God's blessing, in a short time the object of our labors will be accomplished.

[Signed] GEO. B. MEADE,
Maj. Gen. Commanding.

HEADQUARTERS ARMY OF THE POTOMAC, May 13th.—The Army of the Potomac has achieved the greatest victory of the war, after some of the severest fighting ever recorded in history. The battle of yesterday is acknowledged to be the heaviest of all, lasting from daylight till after dark, renewed about 9 p. m., and continuing till nearly 3 a. m. Both parties contending during the night for the possession of a line of rifle pits from which our men had driven the enemy in the morning.

The rebels fell back early this morning, and skirmishing is now going on, our troops following them up through the woods. The scene presented to-day is entirely beyond description. The dead and dying behind and in front of the breastworks are lying in some places in piles three and four deep, many of them wounded in several parts of the body. The enemy had removed a large number of their dead and wounded during the night from portions of the line, but there were places where they could not reach, and there they lay as thick as our own.

Some of the caissons are now being brought in which could not be done before. The number of guns captured is 30. Many colors have been taken, but the captors still retain them as trophies.

Col. Carrol's brigade took a number of pirsoners and a stand of colors this morning from a rebel regiment which they surprised in a piece of woods.

LATER, HEADQUARTERS, ARMY OF THE POTOMAC, 2 P. M.—The enemy are found to have fallen back to a new line, abandoning their works on their right and apparently getting into position for another contest.

BALTIMORE, May 14.—The Gov. of Maryland has called two or three regiments of one hundred day men to relieve all the regular troops now on duty in this State.

FROM GENERAL BUTLER.

NEW YORK, May 14.—The N. Y. Tribune's special says, under date of Washington, that Gen. Butler has removed the rebel obstructions from the James River, and our gunboate are going teward Richmond. A chart, showing the location of the torpedoes, was found on the man shot while attempting to explode a torpedo a few nights ago.

The Herald's special announces the destruction, on the morning of the 9th, of five miles of the Richmond and Petersburg railroad. Five divisions moved out to different points on the road, completed the destruction, massed and moved on to Petersburg, General Weitzel leading. The enemy were found in force about five miles out of Petersburg. Our forces advanced steadily, driving the enemy before them.

At midnight a fierce attack was made on our front, but after a short and bloody engagement the enemy were repulsed. At daybreak of the 10th an attempt to turn our right was thwarted, and the rebels thoroughly whipped, with a heavy loss in killed and wounded.

FROM GEN. SHERIDAN.

Special Despatch to the Gazette.

The following from E. S. Sanford Esq., has just been received:

NEW YORK, May 15, A. M.—The official news is glorious. Sheridan has taken Ashland, torn up 6 miles more of Railroad, destroyed locomotives, and a train of cars, rebel government storehouse, a large amount of supplies, fought and whipped Stuart's cavalry, killed Jeb. Stuart, taken two guns and recaptured nearly 400 more of our men, including two colonels, driven the enemy within their entrenchments at Richmond and joined Butler.

Friday night the 5th and 6th corps of Grant's army were to make a movement on our left to get in the rear of Lee and drive him towards Lynchburg. The assault was to be made at daybreak, but as no firing has been heard it is inferred that Lee continued his retreat during the same night.

General Grant's army is well supplied and heavily reinforced. Good-bye, Southern Confederacy. E. S. SANFORD.

FARMERS, TAKE NOTICE!

The undersigned are having made at Beloit, Wis., one hundred of those Reapers known as the Cheap, or Webber Reaper!

Notwithstanding the increase of nearly double in price over other years of all materials put in Reapers, we are going to sell for 1864 at about the same prices as before. Our prices at the shop are $110 cash for single Reaper, for Reaper and Mower $140. We are making Fifty Mowers, which will be warranted to do good work. They will be made of steel bars of the Buckeye pattern, except the fingers.
Those buying Reapers alone can have Mowers the next year or three after for the same price, as the difference between reaper and mower.
We do not deem it necessary to extol our Reaper, for it is already known to be the only two-horse Reaper in use. Notwithstanding a great many are used with two horses, they ought to use three or four, and some of them six, to be as easy to the horse as ours are to two ordinary horses.
Please send in your orders early to be sure of a machine, as positively only one hundred of them will be built, and we will warrant each and every machine to

Work Well in all Kinds of Grain!

The Reels will be different from last year. They will be the over hanging reel, and have six bats instead of four keeping the reel, holding the grain to the sickle steady.
They will be shipped to any depot in Wisconsin or Illinois. Ten per cent. will be added if sold on time. One half the 1st of September, 1864, the balance the 1st of September, 1865.
Those buying machines will confer a favor by giving this machine publicity in their respective neighborhoods. When material gets to its usual stage we intend to make it a ninety dollar machine, and should have done it but for the unprecedented high prices of everything to construct machines with.

The Reaper Shop at Afton!

will attend strictly to the repairing of the Webber Reaper. None others wanted. We are prepared to change from chain to belt, put on castor wheels upon short notice. Men will be on hand to repair promptly. Charges light as the cost of material will admit. We shall manufacture none at that place, consequently we will be prepared to repair. Work solicited. All orders should be directed to

DENTAL FACTORY!

DOCTOR BURRUS!

Has taken a set of rooms over McKey's Store, where he will be permanently located and practice every department of

in all its branches. He will not only makes teeth to order for his patients, but intends to keep on hand a large assortment of teeth for Dentists. He makes teeth so cheap that none need go without them. Every variety of style, from five to sixty dollars per set, and imitates nature with such precision that they cannot be distinguished from the natural teeth, with one exception, that is, they never ache! He puts no nerves in them!

Teeth Extracted Without Pain.

Dr. Burrus has also just procured a quantity of pure, Hydric Ether, which has been pronounced by all the Dental and Medical Journals, as well as by the oldest of the medical profession, to be the best and safest of all the anesthetic agents yet known for the purpose of extracting teeth. He has a new mode of administering this agent, a new apparatus for the express purpose. It is preferable to and less dangerous, though analagous, to the

Nitrous Oxide Gas, (Laughing Gas.)

This gas has been before the public over half a century, and proved to be dangerous and uncertain in its action.

Dr. Teft's Local Anasthecia.

Dr. Burrus uses this agent for all who desire it. A small piece of cotton wet with this agent put around the neck of the tooth soon removes all sensibility in the parts. It is not dangerous under any circumstances.

COTTSCHALK ON KNABE.

[Translated from the French.]

After having played on the Piano of Messrs. Knabe & Co., it is impossible not to bear testimony to their qualities, which have acquired for them the eminent reputation which they enjoy. The Pianos of their manufacture, on which I have played, are exceedingly remarkable for their qualities. The bass is powerful without harshness, and the upper notes sweet, clear and harmoniously mellow, (chrystaline,) and I do not hesitate to express in regard to these instruments my entire satisfaction, and to declare that they are equal if not superior to the best manufactured in Europe or this country by the most celebrated makers.

ROCK CO., WISCONSIN, LANDS FOR SALE BY AUCTION.

Will be sold by auction, on Thursday the 23d of June Next, in the city of Janesville, Rock county, Wisconsin, thirty-eight hundred and forty (3840) acres of the finest agricultural lands in the State. They are situated about ten miles from Janesville, and adjoining the village of Footville, with the Beloit & Madison Railroad running through them, and the Milwaukee & Southern Wisconsin Railroad on their border, and are composed of about an equal quantity of heavy "grove" timber and prairie. They were selected for their present owner for investment, nearly thirty years ago, as the best lands, in all respects, in Rock county, and this county, it is well known, is the garden of Wisconsin.

They will be sold in farm parcels, and the purchase money, less twenty or twenty-five per cent, which must be paid in cash, may remain on mortgage at seven per cent. interest, for seven or ten years, excepting timber lots which will be sold for cash.

There will also be sold at the same time and place, and in the same manner, but wholly for cash, twenty two hundred (2,200) acres of prime lands in Marathon county, near the town of Wausau, selected about eight years ago.

A rare eligible opportunity for farmers to secure most desirable farms, or for the investment of capital, could not be offered.

For further particulars apply personally, or by letter to Mr. Dawson, No. 9 East 15th street, New York, who will be in Janesville ten days before the sale takes place; to J. R. Pease, Esq., counsellor at law, Janesville, or to Mr. John Howe, on the property, at Footville. 488*my7dawfw

FARMERS, TAKE NOTICE!

The undersigned are having made at Beloit, Wis., one hundred of those Reapers known as the Cheap, or Webber Reaper!

Notwithstanding the increase of nearly double in price over other years of all materials put in Reapers, we are going to sell for 1864 at about the same prices as before. Our prices at the shop are $110 cash for single Reaper, for Reaper and Mower $140. We are making Fifty Mowers, which will be warranted to do good work. They will be made of steel bars of the Buckeye pattern, except the hinges.

Those buying Reapers alone can have Mowers the next year or thereafter for the same price, as the difference between reaper and mower.

We do not deem it necessary to extol our Reaper, for it is already known to be the only two-horse Reaper in use. Notwithstanding a great many are used with two horses, they ought to use three or four, and some of them six, to be as easy to the horse as ours are to two ordinary horses.

Please send in your orders early to be sure of a machine, as positively only one hundred of them will be built, and we will warrant each and every machine to

Work Well in all Kinds of Grain!

The Reels will be different from last year. They will be the over hanging reel, and have six bats instead of four keeping the reel, holding the grain to the sickle steady.

They will be shipped to any depot in Wisconsin or Illinois. Ten per cent. will be added if sold on time. One half the 1st of September, 1864, the balance the 1st of September, 1865.

Those buying machines will confer a favor by giving this machine publicity in their respective neighborhoods. When material gets to its usual stage we intend to make it a ninety dollar machine, and should have done it but for the unprecedented high prices of everything to construct machines with.

The Reaper Shop at Afton!

will attend strictly to the repairing of the Webber Reaper. None others wanted. We are prepared to change from chain to belt, put on caster wheels upon short notice. Men will be on hand to repair promptly. Charges light as the cost of material will admit. We shall manufacture none at that place, consequently we will be prepared to repair. Work solicited. All orders should be directed to

He makes teeth so cheap that none need go without them. Every variety of style, from five to sixty dollars per set, and imitates nature with such precision that they cannot be distinguished from the natural teeth, with one exception, that is, they never ache! He puts no nerves in them!

Teeth Extracted Without Pain.

Dr. Burrus has also just procured a quantity of pure, Hydric Aether, which has been pronounced by all the Dental and Medical Journals, as well as by the oldest of the medical profession, to be the best and safest of all the anesthetic agents yet known for the purpose of extracting teeth. He has a new mode of administering this agent, a new apparatus for the express purpose. It is preferable to and less dangerous, though analagous, to the

Nitrous Oxide Gas, (Laughing Gas.)

This gas has been before the public over half a century, and proved to be dangerous and uncertain in its action.

Dr. Teft's Local Anasthecia.

Dr. Burrus uses this agent for all who desire it. A small piece of cotton wet with this agent put around the neck of the tooth soon removes all sensibility in the parts. It is not dangerous under any circumstances.

COTTSCHALK ON KNABE.

[Translated from the French.]

After having played on the Piano of Messrs. Knabe & Co., it is impossible not to bear testimony to their qualities, which have acquired for them the eminent reputation which they enjoy. The Pianos of their manufacture, on which I have played, are exceedingly remarkable for their qualities. The bass is powerful without harshness, and the upper notes sweet, clear and harmoniously mellow, (chrystaline,) and I do not hesitate to express in regard to these instruments my entire satisfaction, and to declare that they are equal if not superior to the best manufactured in Europe or this country by the most celebrated makers.

AN ORDINANCE Relating to the sealing of Weights and Measures.

The Mayor and Common Council of the City of Janesville do ordain as follows:

SECTION 1. Every merchant, grocer, dealer or trader, who shall buy or sell by weight or measure within the limits of the city of Janesville, shall, at least once in each year cause the scales, weights and measures used by him or her to be inspected by the sealer of weights and measures of said city.

SECTION 2. It shall be the duty of the sealer of weights and measures of said city of Janesville to visit as often as he shall deem necessary the places of business of each and every merchant, grocer, dealer or trader doing business in said city of Janesville, and to inspect the scale, weights or measures used by such merchant, grocer, dealer or trader, and if conformable to the standard of the county of Rock, seal the same, unless such scales, weights or measures have already been sealed. If such scales, weights or measures do not conform to such standard, then said sealer shall condemn the same, and cause the owner or owners thereof to have them corrected and made conformable to such standard, or destroyed. DOTY'S CLOTHES WASHERS ARE THE BEST

READ THE PROOF.

EAST YONKERS, N. Y.,
"WASHING DAY," April 18, 1861

Friend Doty:

Your last improvement of your Washing Machine is a complete success. As it was before, it was the first machine that I could ever get countenanced. As it is now all agree that it is more convenient, and washes more clothes at once than the other. A little slim girl of ten years uses it; and an invalid lady, who has to sit down to work, can wash without fatigue.

You have won blessings from all the women about this house, be assured of that.

Over the Post Office!

There is nothing so much sought for by the public as a practical Sewing Machine, one that is

COMPANY!

Who take pleasure in placing their machines before the public, and unhesitatingly say they are the best in the world, and openly and publicly challenge machines of any and all manufactures to do as large a range of work as can easily be done on one of these machines. They make

and have all the advantages of a reversible feed motion, which carries the work either way, which, together with making all the four stitches, can be done whilst the machine is in motion; the saving of time in stopping to change the length of stitch, is calculated by this machine.

Any correspondence regarding our machines will be promptly answered. Enclose a letter stamp and we will send circular and sample of work by return mail.

DOTY'S CLOTHES WASHERS ARE THE BEST.

READ THE PROOF.

EAST YONKERS, N. Y.,
"WASHING DAY," April 18, 1864.

Friend Doty:

Your last improvement of your Washing Machine is a complete success. As it was before, it was the first machine that I could ever get countenanced. As it is now all agree that it is more convenient, and washes more clothes at once than the other. A littleslim girl of ten years uses it; and an Invalid lady, who has to sit down to work, can wash without fatigue.

You have won blessings from all the women about this house, be assured of that.

Your friend, SOLON ROBINSON.

FLORENCE SEWING MACHINE

Over the Post Office!

There is nothing so much sought for by the public as a practical Sewing Machine, one that is Simple, Strong & Reliable.

One that will run for years without the annoyance of being out of repair; one that is noiseless and swift in motion; also that makes the stitch as you want it, alike on both sides of the fabric: such are the machines of the

COMPANY!

Who take pleasure in placing their machines before the public, and unhesitatingly say they are the best in the world, and openly and publicly challenge machines of any and all manufactures to do as large a range of work as can easily be done on one of these machines. They make

and have all the advantages of a reversible feed motion, which carries the work either way, which, together with making all the four stitches, can be done whilst the machine is in motion; the saving of time in stopping to change the length of stitch, is obviated by this machine.

Any correspondence regarding our machines will be promptly answered. Enclose a letter stamp and we will send circular and sample of work by return mail.
